Too Much Screen Time. Too Little Real Connection.

Social Disconnection

Teens are lonelier than ever, craving authentic friendships and real-world experiences beyond digital screens.

Sedentary Habits

Play and movement have been replaced by passive scrolling, impacting physical and mental health.

Limited Teen Events

Most communities lack accessible, age-appropriate events designed specifically for teens to connect and create.

Parents and teens both feel the gap—but finding safe, engaging local activities shouldn't be this hard.

A Huge Opportunity to Re-Spark Real Life

Today's teens spend an average of 7+ hours daily on screens, yet 89% report wanting more in-person connection with peers.

Parents are actively seeking safe, structured opportunities for their kids to develop social skills, creativity, and confidence offline.

The youth event market is growing rapidly, but most offerings miss the mark—either too expensive, too formal, or simply not designed with teen input.

This is our moment to bridge that gap.

Micro-Events That Meet Teens Where They Are

Local Events & City Meetups

Hyper-local gatherings in familiar neighborhoods—parks, community centers, maker spaces—making participation easy and accessible.

Skill-Based Creative Workshops

Hands-on sessions in art, music, game design, content creation, and more—led by passionate mentors who get teen culture.

Micro-Challenges & Community Points

Gamified experiences where participation earns points, unlocks rewards, and builds a sense of belonging and achievement.

How It Works

Find an Event

Browse our calendar of upcoming events in your area—filter by interest, location, or date.

Reserve Your Spot

What a Level Up Event Looks Like

City Mini Quest

AR + IRL scavenger adventure through your neighborhood—solve clues, meet new friends, discover hidden gems.

Duration: 2 hours

Pixel to Paper

Game-art collaboration workshop where digital meets analog—design characters, build worlds, create together.

Duration: 90 minutes

Coach-Up Night

Micro-skill coaching + team challenges—learn something new, practice together, level up your abilities. Duration:

2 hours

Each event is designed to be low-pressure, high-engagement, and genuinely fun—because connection should never feel forced.

Safe, Moderated, Parent-Friendly

We know safety is non-negotiable. That's why every Level Up event includes:

Background-Checked Moderators

Every adult volunteer and staff member undergoes thorough screening before working with teens.

Clear Check-In Process

Digital check-in and check-out system keeps parents informed in real-time via SMS updates.

Parental Controls & Contact

Parents can opt in to notifications, access emergency contacts, and communicate directly with event hosts.

Community Points and Rewards

Participation isn't just fun—it's rewarding. Teens earn community points for attending events, bringing friends, and contributing to workshops.

01

Attend events and complete challenges

02

Earn points and unlock achievement badges

03

Redeem for exclusive merch, event discounts, or local perks

Points create friendly competition, celebrate participation, and make every event feel like progress toward something bigger.

What Teens and Parents Say

"I've made more real friends in two months of Level Up events than I did all year online. These meetups are seriously the highlight of my week."

— Maya, 15, San Francisco

“

"As a parent, I love knowing exactly where my daughter is and that she's doing something creative. The safety protocols give me total peace of mind."

— Jennifer K., Parent

"Level Up helped me discover I'm actually good at game design. Now I'm thinking about it as a career. That wouldn't have happened without these workshops."

— Jordan, 16, Austin
